Little Greene

Little Greene has just revealed its latest Colours of England colour card, featuring a wide range of on-trend shades. Shown here (right) is Aquamarine Pale 282 on the upper wall, Aquamarine Mid 284 on the lower wall, Aquamarine 138 on the island, and Livid 263 on the worktop. Prices start from £42 for 2.5 litres of Absolute matt emulsion, and all shades are available in Little Greene's full range of paint finishes.

Everhot

Ideal for city homes, or those with smaller kitchens, the new Everhot 60 range cooker is slim enough to fit into a standard 600mm-wide cooker space, yet has two large ovens, cast-iron simmer plates, and an integral grill so you can still cook all of your favourite meals. It is also easy to install – simply plug into a 13-amp socket. There are 12 colourways to choose from, including Sage as pictured, priced £4995.

Caesarstone

Quartz has the look and durability of natural stone, but it is far easier to maintain thanks to its non-porous construction, making it a perfect option for kitchen worktops. Pictured is 6046 Moorland Fog from Caesarstone's Supernatural collection – one of four new looks it has introduced into its UK range – with natural-looking grey hues running across the surface in a granite-style finish. All worktops are made to order, with prices available on application.

Miele

Miele has launched its first-ever range cooker, which boasts an impressive array of features including seven gas burners, a 43-litre combination microwave oven, and an 85-litre oven with a variety of cooking functions – all operated via touch control. Keen bakers will be pleased to know that the oven features Miele's exclusive Moisture Plus steam-injection technology, which helps improve results when baking, and meat lovers will appreciate the great results produced by the rotisserie and wireless food probe. Available in two sizes, pictured is the 122cm-wide Miele HR1956 G range cooker, priced £17,499.

WallPepper

The Naturals collection of wallpapers from Italian brand WallPepper features a range of colourful floral patterns, as seen here in Herbarium. With a high resistance to wear and tear, these wallpapers can be printed smooth or embossed, and prices start from around £92 per sq m. Want to know how they will look in your home? Send Wallpepper a picture of the space you plan to redecorate and the design team will provide you with a mock up of what it could look like with the wallpaper in place.

Willow & Hall

It may only look like an ottoman at first glance, but lift up the lid and the Pewsey from Willow & Hall folds out into a single bed with a 14cm-deep mattress. Ideal for studies or spare rooms, this highly practical bed in a box is handmade to order and can be upholstered in your choice of fabric and over 100 colours. Guaranteed for 10 years, Pewsey is priced £774.

Utopia Bathrooms

Breaking away from traditional bathroom styles, Utopia Bathrooms's Star modular collection has a smart and contemporary look. Pictured is the double-drawer vanity unit, available in 800 and 1000mm widths. Clad in 3mm-thick Coralux solid surface, it has exposed colour detail at the edges and handle inset (available in Copper, Nickel or Indigo) and is priced from around £1195. The mirror, £645, has a matching floating shelf and benefits from concealed features such as LED lighting, a demister and integrated Bluetooth speakers. A WC and tall storage units are also available in the range.

Matki

The Matki-One wetroom panel is now available with a Crittall window-style design. Printed digitally on to the 8mm-thick safety glass, the framing creates a simple yet striking industrial look. The panel can be installed straight onto a waterproofed floor, as pictured, or a shower tray and is available as standard in black or white in varying widths, priced from £1240. Bespoke sizes and colours are also available, price on application.
