

Home IMPROVEMENT

Turn over to discover all you need to know about single-storey extensions, plus we reveal the best renovating secrets

SUSTAINABLE style

Carpet made from recycled fishing nets and fabric scraps that is still sumptuously soft underfoot? That's what the new People and Planet range from Carpetright promises to deliver. The process to make this eco-friendly range involves weaving Econyl yarn – otherwise known as regenerated nylon – onto a soft backing made from 100% recycled plastic for a high-quality carpet. Shown is the People and Planet Ardent carpet in Burnt Orange, £31.99 per sq m.

Ready to roll

Alongside a range of on-trend contemporary paint colours, Coat Paints has now brought out a decorating bundle with everything you need for your next DIY project. The Essentials Supplies Kit is made using sustainable materials and includes a bamboo roller and sleeve, 2-inch bamboo brush, sugar-cane tray and decorating tape. Priced £20 for a regular kit.

SMART IDEA

Swift Direct Blinds Somfy electric range can also now be linked up to a smart hub to be controlled via your phone or with voice activation alongside Amazon Alexa, Google Home or Apple HomePod. Simply ask your chosen smart hub to open and close your blinds from the comfort of your bed or sofa and let the Somfy technology do its thing! Pictured is the Somfy electric roller in Bella blackout Rose Gold, priced from £64.75.

ON THE TILES

Available in six colourways, Roxy is the latest wall tile range from Porcelain Superstore. The modern diamond design features a dappled finish, which gives each tile an individual look that glistens when displayed next to each other. Mix and match colours or stick to one. Shown is Blue, Green, Grey, Pink, Sky, White, priced £69 per sq m.

